NO. 184.

WHEN

CRAWFORD

The Great Retailers and Public Benefactors, put before the people of St. Louis their IMMENSE SURPLUS STOCK in order to Make Room, at Prices THAT DEMORALIZE all Dry Goods Interests.

'Tis no wonder Their Vast Stores are filled to overflowing with Eager Purchasers. This sale, like the running brook, will not go on for ever, but will close on SATURDAY NIGHT at 6:30, SURE.

DON'T BLAME

(as they give you fair warning) if you do not secure some of the following Great Bargains. 'Tis no wonder this Great House is daily crowded, when they throw their property at the Public as follows. And 'tis no wonder they have taken in out of the cold the One Hundred Frozen-out Dry Goods Salesmen who were given, in such a "gentlemanly manner." on Christmas Eve, by the so-called 'First-Class Stores' of the city, their beautiful, but cold-blooded, Walking Tickets.

Mr. Hewitt of New York, from the Committee of Ways and Means, reported the bill amending section 2,019 of the Revised Statutes, so it will read as follows: Section 3,019. "There shall be allowed on all articles wholly manufactured materials imported on which duties have been paid when exported, a drawback equal in amount to the duty paid on such materials, and no more, to be absortained under such regulations as shall be prescribed by the Secretary of the Troasury, and all provisions of law inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed."

After some opposition from Singieton and Walls who desired respectively to bring up the Congressional Library and Education bills, the House went into committee of the whole, Mr. Wellborn in the chair on the Indian Appropriation bill.

Companies met here this morning at 10 o'clock to discuss the affairs of the firms. The attendance was large, all creditors being represented. H. W. Oliver, jr., presented the following statement:

PITTRECHO, January 20.—To our creditors.—We submit for your consideration a statement of our assets and lianvilles. We feel certain that a careful perusio of this statement will convince you, as it has convinced us, that the allowance of reasonable time on your part, aided by a careful management on ours, will cuable us to pay all debts. With this end in view, we propose to pay all claims against us, not secured by mortgage, by our notes maturing as follows: One-fifth on February 1, 1886; one-fifth on February 1, 1886, and one-fifth on February 1, 1880. Each note to bear interest at the rate of 5 per cent per annum, from date, when the claims are respectively due, parties holding our paper, indorsed or guaranteed by other persons, will receive the same indorsement or guarantee on the extension notes. To secure these notes we will deliver to any trustee or trustees that may be named by you, a mortgage covering all our real estate in Ailegheny and Westmoreland Counties. We also propose to make semi-annual reports to the said trustees of the conditions of our business, and if in their opinion it is possible, without interfering with the carrying on of business, to anniejate any of the payments above mentioned, they are to have authority to so direct. We also request a like extension of our individual liabilities on the same terms as above proposed to our partereship creditors, to secure which all of us will execute and deliver to the said trustees a mortgage covering all of the sale of the said real estate, to be applied first to payment of owners debts and the balling the same to the partnership debts.

ing all of the sale of the said real estate, to be applied first to payment of owners debts and the balance to the partnership debts.

The statements were discussed at length and a committee of five was appointed to examine into them more closely. The committee retired, and after an absence of some time returned and reported favorably. It was then decided to take no final action until Thursday, the 29th instant, when another meeting will be held. In the meantime a thorough examination will be made by the committee, which was continued. The greatest harmony prevailed at the meeting and the disposition, was shown by the creditors to grant the five years extension asked Officer James Grady brought before the Mayor this moraing a little colored walf, aged 6 years, named Thomas Patterson, abandoned by his parents, and who has been forced to beg for a living, sleeping in stables and outhouses. His sister Ellen, aged 8 years, was committed by Acting Mayor Parker on July 19 last for the vitest conduct, so the family seems tainted and of no account. The Mayor committed the boy to the House of Refuge for a home and protection.

A smart ils-year-old boy was brought before the Mayor this morning by Officer Thomas Donegan, having been found wandering in the city withouthome or friends. The little fellow represented that, in company with several other youngsters, he had run away from his home in Bradford, Penn. They wished to try their fortunes in the Western country. They had managed to steal their way thus far on freight trains, and here they were stranded. The boy was tired of wandering, and, like the prodigal son of old; was anxious to return to his father's house. The Mayor had him temporarily placed in charge of the Mission Home, on Kinth and Wash streets, where he will find a nice home until his father can be communicated with to send for his straggling son.

Dr. Dorsett, head physician of the Health Department, drove out to Clayton this merning to investigate an alleged case of small-pox reported to exist on the Clayton road just beyond the city limits. He found that the report was true and made application to the County Court for permission to the County Court for permission to the County Court for permission to remove the patient, which was granted. The patient's name was Angust Hocycli. He at only 23 years of age, and as the case is a mid one he will probably recover.

City Treasurer Herrell to-day, paid out money for street cleaners as follows: First District, 182 men, $738; Second District, 655 men, $3,483 40; Third District, 297 men, $2,284 83; total, $6,736 28. This pays for the work done from January to the 15th inclusive. Delegate Sullivan is holding a conference with the Mayor on the subject of making arrangements by which these street cleaners can be paid for their work within a day or two instead of having to wait a fortnight, as is often the case.

Public Schools-Damage Suits Against

The Court of Appeals met to-day and handed down the following batch of opinions: In the case of R. F. Park against Gustav M. Viernon, the judg-ment of the Circuit Court was affirmed. This suit was originally brought before a Justice of the Peace to recover $219, a balance alleged to be due by the specific performance of a contract for the sale, of real estate.

The judgment was reversed and the case remanded also in the case of M. D. Lewis, Public Administrator, against F. X. McCabe, administrator. Lewis, as Public Administrator, took control of the estate of W. J. Maynard, who died in New Orleans in the year 1897. In that capacity he brought suit on a claim which belonged to the estate and obtained a judgment. This case going to the Supreme Court it was held that Lewis had no right to take charge of the estate nor to oring suit, and the Court sustained a motion to tax costs against him personally. On a similar motion being made in the Circuit Court an appeal was taken from the ruling, and the Court of Appeals holds that the ruling of the Supreme Court must be followed and Mr. Lewis must pay the costs in both actions.

holds that the ruling of the Supreme Court must be followed and Mr. Lewis must pay the costs in both actions.

In the case of John R. Lionberger, assignee of the Broadway Savings Bank, against William Pohlman the judgment was reversed and the cause remanded. The suif was brought to recover $500 alieged to be due on a note for $5,000 given by the defendant to the bank. The main point in issue was whether the bank had released the note. The jury in the lower court found for the defendant, but the Court of Appeals sends the case back because it claims the Circuit Judge erred on a question of fact in instructing the jury.

In the case of Joseph Heil et al. against the St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern Railroad Company the judgment of the Circuit Court was reversed and the case remanded. The action was brought to recover $514 96 alleged damages to a quantity of apples, potatoes and onions stripped over the defendant's line from St. Louis to Galveston. The verdict and judgment of the lower court was for $424 20, which was reduced by remittitur to $533. The Court of Appeals holds there was error in the instructions given by the court and sends the case down again.

In the case of Winfired McPerson et al. against same railroad company the judgment of the Circuit Court was affirmed pro forms by consent and stipulation of counsel.

In the case of H. O. Hamlin against W. W. Caruthers the judgment in the lower court was reversed and the case remanded. The suit was brought by the assignee of a bill of lading against the consignee, to whom certain goods were alleged to have been shipped, for damages for selling the goods and converting the proceeds. It was tried by the lower court sitting as a jury, and a verdict and judgment given for the plaintiff.

The case of the Florence Soap Company against J. R. Jacobus et al. was also sent back for MECHANICS' EXCHANGE.

The Annual Election Takes Place To-Day-A Close Fight. Exchange was held at the Exchange to-day, The polls opened at 10 o'clock this morning, with fessrs. F. C. P. Tiedeman and Charles Hogan as judges. More than usual interest was taken in the Friends of the candidates lined the hallway leading to the Exchange entrance with bunches of tickets in their hands which they solicited all comers to vote.

On the surface there appears to be no real issue, aside from the personal popularity of the candidates in the contest, but it is generally understood that the regular ticket, headed by Daniel Evans, represents what might be termed the siberal or progressive party, while the independent ticket with W. 8. Simpson, and the mechanics' ticket with Y. 8. In the conservatives. During the term of the outgoing administration some ninety or one hundred new members were added to the rolls of the Exchange, a large partion desinquent dues collected, and the institution thereby placed upon a solid financial foundation. The annual dues are $30, and it is the policy of President Mulcahy and the old administration to keep them at that figure for the ensuing year, or until an amount sufficient to purchase a lot of ground and erect a new Exchange has been accumulated. The progressive party, with Daniel Evans as its candidate, indorse President Mulcahy's views, and if elected will endeavor to carry them out, while the independent and mechanics nominees oppose it and favor a reduction of the dues. The polls closed at a o'clock the afternoon.

At 3 o'clock the tellers were busy counting the

The Colossal Statues of the Pacific.

Quite lately fresh attention has been directed to the extrordinary remains which are found on Easter Island, which lies about 2,300 miles wes of the coast of Peru, within easy sail of San Francisco. Everybody remembers the colos al statues found in profusion on this island, monoliths representing men forty feet high and nine feet across the shoulders. They are made of the country rock of the island, but it is quite evident that they are not the work of the natives, who are a low race of savages, without tools capable of carving in stone or machinery suitable for moving heavy weights. The questiou is, How did they come there? It has been suggested that Easter Island is the remains of a submerged continent, which was inhabited by a civilized race. But Sclater, whose theories are regarded with respect, makes Easter Island the terminus of the southern migration of mankind from his fancied continent of Lemuria.

For the benefit of those who are not familiar with his studies it may be explained that Sclater was a believer in the hypothesis which ascribes to mankind a single origin from a single race, according to the Bible. He held that Paradise, from which all men originally came, was a continent lying south of Ceylon; to this continent he gave the name Lemuria, from lemur, which means a ghost, but which name Linnseus gave to a race of moukeys. Sclater believed that from Lemuria man migrated into Africa, into Asia, and thence into Europe and America, and likewise into Polynesia, one stream of emigrants pushing their way as far east as Easter Island. It is evidently worth the extrordinary remains which are found Easter Island, which lies about 2,300 miles that history be prosecuted to such advantage as in San Francisco. The Navy Department would probably be quite willing to direct one of our ships of war to collect two or three of the collossal statues and bring them here, if we provide a place for the reception. This exhibit alone would draw swarms of visitors to San Francisco.

Punishing a Foolish Lover.

From the Buffalo Courier. From the Buffalo Courier.

A Kentuckian whose best girl kind married another man sued out an order of deirvery for the love letters which he had sent to the young woman, declaring in the document that they were worth $100, and that he was unlawfully deprived of their possession. A constable, armed with the proper documents, was dispatched to recover the valued epistles.

When the law papers had been read to the defendant, who is described as "a pretty figure in a blue Mother Hubbard and long blonds curls," she exclaimed: "Of course you can have the letters. I only wish I had time to read them to, you. Some of them are the silliest things I ever saw."

If I have taken a just view, the good and bad characteristics of his writings stand in a different relation. It is not morality itself that he regards with indifference, but one important section of morality. And he is an indifferentist here partly because he is a man formed in the last years of the old regime, partly because he is borne too far on the tids of reaction against Catholic and monastic dicas. FORENCON SESSION. CLOSING I P. M.

Wheat—There was a lack this morning of the "war news" that so stirred speculators vesterday afternoon and caused them to advance the market under their urgent buying. Receipty, too, were liberal, both reports on the visible supply showed increases, and cables, though firmer for wheat to arrive and for the London market, were cull and easier to therwise. All this checked the built movement and caused prices to sag downward. New York was wenk and declining and Chicago sold lower. During the first hour the feeling was unsettled enough to swing prices around within a small circle, May opening 15c lower at $13.4. selling at $13.4.23. going down to 35.

Some remarks made in criticism of the present constitution, as being largely composed of legisla-tion, brought Senator Halliburton to his feet in de-tion, brought Senator Halliburton to his feet in de-fense of that document, and some time was spent on this side issue.

Senator McGinnis said he would not have said what he did had he remembered Senator Hallbur-ton helped to make the constitution. The entire discussion resulted in nothing.

Senator Downing introduced a bill providing for the introduction in public and normal schools of charts and maps to show the evil effects of the use of stimulants.

Senator Hunter introduced a bill allowing Senator Hunter introduced a bill allowing Senator Frecur introduced a bill to make an apseudor frecurs and the senator frequency and the senator fre Sheriffs mileage for serving process in civil cases. to serve for ax years, from the 4th of next March. The motion carried, and Senator Edwards, without any speech at all, nominated Hon. G. G. Vest on behalf of the Democratic caucus.

Senator Harris seconded the nomination with quite a speech of laudation.

Senator Halitourion added a seulogy of Mr. Vest and incidentally a seulogy of Missouri, which he refused to characterize, even in jest, as Poor Old Missouri. He sat in the Senate as now, when Vest sat in the House of Representatives of Missouri, and he spoke, therefore, as a legislative comrade and a life-long friend. He expressed the wish that the Republican Senators would join with the Democratic in honoring the man who had honored Missouri. Senator Davisson Seconded Maj. Wm. Warner, Congressman from Kansas City. He spoke very strougly in praise of his candidate.

Senator Davisson seconded Maj. Warner's nomination. He did not wish to detract anything from what had been said in praise of Mr. Vest, but he, Davisson, had been elected on the tariff issue, and he would vote accordagly. Warner was his man. The ballot was then taken, each Senator announcing his choice in answer to the roil call.

Senator shocks and Kelly were absent.

All of the Senators present voted for Vest, except Davisson, Gideon, Kost, McGinnis, Parcher, Ryors and Webster. The vote stood, therefore: Vest 25, Warner 7, absent 2.

the Japanese government, whose islands are greatly subject to earthquakes, has been the first to establish a state department for securing a consecutive series of records of earth tremors; and the existing chronneles of China and Japan, in this respect, are much more complete than those of European nations. In France about 600 shocks of more or less violence have been recorded, and, as in the majority of other cases, much the larger proportion of these took place in the winter months. In Great Britain accounts are extant of about 256 shocks of similar severity. The most disastrous were those of Lincoln in 1142, of Glastonbury in 1274 (when the abbey was destroyed), of a wide part of England in November, 1318, and April 6, 1589, when London was visited by a shock which brought down part of Old St. Paul's and Temple Church. More than a century later Dublin experienced a sharp tremor, and London had another in 1750. Others occurred in various parts of England in 1852, 1859, 1860 and 1863, while on April 22 of this year the castern counties were shaken and damage was done to the amount of a good many thousand pounds. Not Much of a Trick.

From the Texas Siftings.

Dr. Logan of Houston, being at the house of Judge Cummings, asked the latter's little boy: "Don't you want to see the elephant in the circus that has so much intelligence? He can draw the cork out of a bottle, put the neck of it in his mouth, and empty it down his throat." "If that is all he can do, I don't care to see him. My pa can do that. I've seen him do that more than a dozen times when he went out fishing." It may be remarked incidentally that the room was full of company, and Judge Cummings himself was present, and listened to the childish prattle of his little boy.

"Note whatever in the way you out it," was singled by the Naves. Of course, when Lily was about to be married. I made inquiries about the Von Bayer-Ehrenburgs, and they made inquiries about my people. The only trouble was that there was a great deal of question about the respectability of Lily's step-father, not about her own father. Our people are the very cest in the South, as I was able very easily to show."

"Still it is a fact, is it not, Mrs. Woolridge, that you were called upon to produce certificates that Miss Lily was not of piebeian origin?"

"Not, sithough that would be very easy to do. I believe that inquiries were made at the American Consulate in Stuttgart, and letters were sent to this country, in the course of a perfectly natural inquiry. Gen. Stephen D. Lee is a rolation of milne, and a great many other people throughout the South and in St. Louis knew enough about me and mine to be able to certify, if they were called upon."

"Well, what was the trouble?"

"If you must know it, the whole trouble was about my second husband. I don't know how the thing started, but it was said that he had peddled pills and peanuts, and worse than that—that he had changed his name from Neff for some inscrutable reason, and I do believe there were inquiries made about that. You see, in German court circles a "Kauffman" cannot enter—nor a "Kauffman" and enter—nor a "Kauffman" and that the party was no longer Lily's step-father, and I can answer you that as far at the Woolridges are concerned, no one has serve a the Woolridges are concerned, no one has serve a the Woolridges are concerned, no one has serve a the Woolridges are concerned. "So that Lieutenant Von Bayer had no trouble in the matter?"

"I know that the King's signature was appended to the marriage certificate, and so far from his Colonel objecting, that gentleman is and was on

Mr. Richard M. Scrugga, treasurer of the Association, said: "I understand parties have stated that these bonds could be disposed of in New York at a premium. No such proposition has ever been made to the directors, who have been and still are UNANIMOUSLY OF THE OPINION that the shareholders shall, first of all, be granted the privilege of securing the bonds and that the general public should be given their chance. There are two reasons for this: this of all, it is only right that the people who invested their money in the enterprise before its probability of success was known, should be confidered in preference to others who held aloof white success was a matter of doubt. Another reason which helped the directors to reach the conclusion was that they did not want to see the bonds placed in the hands of speculators or capitalists who, in the possible event of a default, would sell the building and deprive the stocknoiders of all possibility of return for their original investment.

"De you think it will take long to place the bonds?"

"I should not think so. They ought to be a very tempting investment. Secured by mortgage upon property four times their represented value and bearing 7 per cent interest, they ought to be taken up in a very short time."

"The committee is working hard," said Mr. McCullagh, and they are extremely grateful for the help they are getting from the press and the people. The collections reported to-day were very encouraging. At the meeting we made arrangements to have all the public buildings, like the Four Courts, the City Hail, the Court House, etc., thoroughly canvassed. Books were also sent out to the members of the House of Delegates from the few Wards where there are now no collectors, with a request that each delegate get up a list of collectors as soon as possible. The meeting adjourned to meet every morning until further notice at the Mercantile Club at 11 o'clock, to hear reports and attend to all business that may come up.

Elmer E. French and Ada C. Gray, who were recently tried before Judge Noonan in the Court of Criminal Correction on a charge of very improper Criminal Correction on a charge of very improper conduct, have since been married. The prosecution was instituted by the husband of the woman through Private Detective Bennett simultaneous with a divorce suit. The defendants were acquitted on a trial and the divorce was granted shortly after by the civil courts. The police department then instituted proceedings against Bennett for carrying on a detective agency without license. French and Mrs. Gray were utilized to prosecute this case, which resulted in a conviction. After this was disposed of the couple went to Belleville, Illinois, where they were married, and returning to this city held a brief reception in the offices of their attorneys, Bass & O'Brien.

About 2 o'clock, just at the time that the drizzle began to fall and the atmospheric conditions became somewhat like those of London, the breaker of Miss Fortescue's heart made his appearance in the hotel office. He proved to be a very tall young man, with a pleasant, expressive face, its beauty being rather of the feminine cast. He has a broad, full forehead, which overhangs a pair of large brown eyes, shaded by heavy eyelids. The nase is of generous proportions and just hooked enough and thin enough to be aristocratic. Under it there is a mustache, semi-blonde in color, quite modest as to size and innocent either of curl or wax. The mouth and chin slightly recede and are the reverse of heavy. The whole face indicates that Lord Garmoyle is, according to feminine standard, "a real nice young man," while taking George Washington Tyler as a true specimen of masculine beauty, his lordship would have to take a back seat in the class. He was clad in a long uister, which reached almost to the end of his very high-drawn-up trousers. The latter in turn displayed the kind and size of foot which Supervisor Strother libellously imputes to a local journalist of the subsidized corporation press. The long and slender hands carried a crooked stick which could not have weighed less than a couple of pounds.

It always results more satisfactorily than a boom.

Mr. Constant, of Butler & Constant, builders' hardware, at No. 18 Warren street, said: "There is a decided look of improvement on the last year. There has been a depression in prices for upwards of a year, and particularly so during the past six months. Then again, the labor movement throughout the country has been the means of depressing trade, especially with builders. Now, however, the building business is gradually going into the hands of capitalists, as there is no more favorable opportunity for private individuals to build than now. Labor is cheap and plenty. Capitalists hold off until they see an improvement in trade generally, and as soon as that comes every one will be busy. Our trade is not much in sympathy with the hardware trade in general, which has suffered so much of late. We look at the Olivér failure as the natural result of their way of doing business, simply by not sticking to their legitimate lines. Their business, however, is like a mighty snow ball which, once started rolling, accumulates and gets larger until it breaks. It is so large now that bankers and those directly interested in the welfare of the house cannot afford to allow it to go to the dogs, and must necessarily come to their ald and help them along. Once the rally in trade generally begins, the ball will continue to roll up.

with trade in this country. Either it is away up or away down. The outlook, I am glad to say, is very encouraging for the coming year.

The pipe was run out of the side of the house. The jury tore some of the paper off the room searching for bullet-holes. Only one was found, about five feet from the floor, in the wall opposite the outside door which opened into the kitchen. The parlor was carpeted with a rag carpet and oil cloth. There was an oval old-fashioned wood store with a movable top. The ashes were nearly all taken up. In a corner was a cabinet organ, reaching nearly to the ceiling. On the walls were various designs tacked up, such as horses' shoes, hearts and wreaths made from pine and cedar boughs, and decorated with bits of pink cotton and tin foil. The furniture consisted of a few wooden chairs and a rickety home-made lounge. Near the door and window were several spatters of blood. This was the room where the body was cut up. No blood could be discovered on the carpet. The brussels carpeting had been removed from the pedals of the organ and replaced by pieces of oil-cloth like the new piece on the floor. Mrs. Druse was taken to the house and selected some articles of ciothing. She remained only a few moments. Up-stairs were a large room and a smaller one. William Druse slept in the large room. In this room hung THE OLD BLEE ARM OVERGOAT that Druse always were, and which made him a familiar figure on our streets. There were two beds in the smaller room, in one of which Mrs. Druse and Mary siept, and in the other the two boys. The bedsteads were old and rickety, and the bedding was poor and flithy. January 20.—The announcement made during the celebration of high mass in the Roman Catholic Churches, that a number of supposed sacred relics which had been brought from Rome in 1880 by Mgr. It is asserted that the Bishop was victimized by a relic merchant in Rome, and that in order to carry out the scheme the name of the Pope was forged. Bishop Fabre visited the Eternal City himself for the special purpoe of securing relics for the use of his diocese, and spent time in the work of making the collection. Orphans." It may be that in addition to her own following of the style which she has set for herself, those of the addience who have seen her as Louize find resemblances which are natural, simply because the actress has always been associated with the character. Be this as it may, the plaintive gentleness of the billind tirl, even in situations in which the manner required is totally different, is noticeable. That is the "Two Orphans" over again, is a common expression on the hose of courses, which is heightened by the heat. It

The care with which the words of a play ought to be adjusted to the situation was never more apty illustrated as in Sunday night's performance of "The Child of the State." I do not say that is not entitled to the qualitying words, "young and beautiful," but I do know that when Gertrande referred to her as "so young and beautiful," but I do know that the gallery gods gave rent to loud and derisive laughter which continued through the most touching scene in the play, and practic. ly spoiled it. The laughter was only checked by a significant look from Miss Bates, who turned her eyes gallery wards in a way which plainly meant: "Wouldn't I like to find one of you fellows bound and tied, with a cowhide in my hand!" It was only a look secompanied by the briefest of pauses, but it was a powerful rebuke, and it was felt. On Thurday night the company will give "Two Orphans," which will be continued for the rest of the week.

WARM STREET CARS.

other roads adop ed such a plan, I have no doubt but that we would fol ow suit."

PRESIDENT JOHN SCULLIN

of the Union Depot Koad said: "Cars are heated by stoves, steam and chemical preparations on roads in the restern and some of the northern cities, but there is no reason why such an innovation should be introduced here. We can and do get along very nicely without them. We are having unusually cold weather just at present, but it will not last long, and what little benefit would be derived during the ensuing week or two would be more than counterbalanced by the worry and bother of the rest of the winter. You will find in the Fast that stoves are not nearly so popular as is supposed. The heated aimosphere of the cars is very injurious to health, and so far no way has been found for remedying it. Instead of stoves I believe the best plan of the cars is very injurious to health, and so far no way has been found for remedying it. Instead of stoves I believe the best plan invented is to heat a metal ball, something like a common ball, which will retain the heat for a length of time, and place it in a proper receptacle in the car every trip. It will give out sufficient heat to warm the car without making it oppressively hot, but still I am not prepared to give any positive opinion on the matter, not having considered it seriously."

Glasgow place, which extends from Garrison to Webster avenue, between Casa and Sheridan avenues, has a large Episcopal population, which is distributed around for half a dozen blocks either way, and Bishop Robertson has for some time been desirous offpiacing there a mission, which could not fail of securing a good support. Now that he finds himself able to put such an experienced preacher as Dr. Foy at the head of it, he thinks the way is open to the successful accomplishment of his long crevished plan. Indeed, everything looks so propitious that Dr. Foy expects to begin duty in his new field very soon after his ordination. The organization will be called the Northwestern St. Louis Episcopal Mission. Although Dr. Foy looks with great astisfaction on the prospect of being settled in a congenial parish in this city where he is best known, he has received a number of offers from various parts of the State and the Soutawest, and he would not find it difficult to select a comfortable berth elsewhere if he did not prefer to labor exclusively in St. Louis. He is enjoying better health uow than for some time, and looks eagerly forward to the time when he can again take an active part in shaping the affairs of men.

W. F. Halz, druggist, Jackson C. H., Ohio, writes; "After a three months' slege of choicera infantum, my little girl was given up to die. Our physician said no medicine could save her. I was seiling Mishler's Herb Bitters along with other preparations, but did not dream of using it until a remark by a customer led me to try the experiment, boping even against hope. When I commenced using it she had failed to take notice of anything, but in a short time she began to mend, and soon she was entirely cured."
